If we are not to trust these leaders of the church, these men and women who are giving all of their time and talent to the advancement of the interests of the Kingdom, who, pray tell us, are we to trust? To whom shall we look for guidance? To whom shall we give evidence of deeper consecration and more efficiency come to challenge us we prefer to follow those who have been tried and have proven faithful to their every trust.

STRIKE CAUSES UNPRECEDENTED BUSINESS BY PARCELS POST

Parcel post business has experienced an unprecedented increase on account of the railroad strike which resulted in an embargo on express.

The Connellsville post office is just one of the thousands of others which are experiencing the same flood of packages in the mails.

For the past two weeks the use of the parcel post here has been on the upward trend, necessitating the placing of an extra man on the delivery routes, together with an extra truck.

The bulk of the incoming mail arrives here on the two Baltimore & Ohio night trains and is delivered in the mornings. All other mails are exceptionally heavy also. Persons and firms accustomed to use the express companies for shipments were quick to utilize the mail service when the strike went into effect.

DEMONSTRATIONS SPONSOR'S SKILL GIVEN TOMORROW

When Serving Lunch at Noon and Dinner in Evening to Members Co. D.

By Associated Press.
The capabilities of the members of the Sponsors club in providing entertainment of a substantial kind for the members of Company D will be given two demonstrations tomorrow.

At noon a lunch will be served at the armory to all men who have enlisted. In the evening, between 7:30 and 9 o'clock a dinner will be provided. Both meals will be prepared and served by the young ladies who are glad of the opportunity they will have of showing how completely they have mastered the fine art of building and dispensing an inviting "feed."

In addition to the members of the company young men who have made up their minds that enlisting is the proper thing for them to do are urged to come to the armory and be included among the guests upon these occasions.

The smoker and army lunch to be provided tonight, being somewhat out of the line of the young ladies' efforts as ladies, their services will be limited to the functions to take place tomorrow.

Two more recruits were secured last evening, one being Earl W. Haviland, supervisor of music in the high school. Singing being one of the new features planned by Captain Skomp for Company D, which is certain to make a bit with the members and to bring a new distinction to the unit in camp, the training of the company in song will be one of the duties of Recruit Haviland.

The other recruit signed up last evening was Otto W. Chalfant of Uniontown, who has had six years' experience in the National Guard of Pennsylvania as a member of the 15th Regiment of Pittsburgh.

The progress being made in the matter of recruiting has encouraged Colonel Martin to such an extent that he sent a message to Captain Skomp saying:

"I expect Company D to be the next company to apply for a muster-in date."

Just as soon as the full quota of 100 men is secured Captain Skomp will make the request. Colonel Martin is expecting to receive, if, as previously announced, the efforts to secure men from the Connellsville district do not provide sufficient recruits by Monday evening, enlistments will at once be sought at points outside. It is hoped this will not be necessary. Judged by the renewed interest in completing the drive it is believed the young men of Connellsville and vicinity will not permit other towns in the county to beat them out in the matter of patriotism.

FAYETTE INDUSTRY DOUBLES OUTPUT IN THREE YEARS

Aggregate in 1916 of $64,309,300 Jumps to $154,597,100 in 1918.

By Associated Press.
HARRISBURG, April 23.—With an increase in industrial production valuation of approximately $70,000,000 in three years Fayette county has been showing remarkable progress in industry, according to reports submitted today to Secretary of Internal Affairs James F. Woodward by M. Hoke Gottschall, chief of the bureau of statistics and information in the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs.

The reports given to Secretary Woodward cover the three year period of 1916, 1917 and 1918 and are being issued jointly for the purpose of comparison and to show the progress made in the county's industrial life.

The production valuation increases show that in three years the value of the industrial production of the county was $64,309,300. In 1917 the value had increased to $137,837,100. Although the figures for 1917 established a new record in the county the record was quickly broken for valuations made of 1918 reports showed the total value of production in that year to be $154,597,100.

Steady increases in total capitalization were also noted in the county's reports for the three years. During 1916 the industries of Fayette represented a total capital of $78,563,400 and in 1917 there was an increase of approximately $15,000,000, making a total for that year $93,563,400. The increase in 1918, very similar to the increase in 1917, made a total capital in the county in the third year of $109,563,400.

Although many counties in the state during the years of the war showed a decrease in the number of industrial plants, this condition was not true of Fayette county. Instead there was a steady increase in the number of industrial establishments. In 1916, 333 plants reported in the statistical bureau of the Department of Internal Affairs. In 1917 there were 405 plants and in 1918 the total was 421. In 1916 the reports showed there were 66 different kinds of production in the county. In 1917 the variety was 70 but in 1918 the kinds had dropped to 5, indicating that some industries in the county had changed their manufacture during the year.

During the three years, too, Fayette county was one of the best industrial centers of the state. This is shown by tabulations giving the average number of days all the plants were in operation in each year. In 1916 the industries worked on an average of 287 days. This same average was shown in 1918 and in 1917 the average number of days worked was 277.

With increases in the value of industrial production, capitalization and the number of plants there was also an increase in the number of persons employed in the county's workshops. The year 1916 found 25,377 persons engaged in industry. In 1917 the personnel of the county carried the names of 35,237 persons and in 1918 the number of employees had increased to 42,734. A striking fact concerning the employment figures in the county is that in each of the years foreign labor outnumbered the American employees. In 1916 there were 15,022 Americans and 22,355 foreigners employed. In 1917 there were 15,547 Americans and 22,680 foreigners. In 1918 practically all of the increase shown in the number of employees was in American labor. In that year there were 20,167 Americans and 22,567 foreigners.

Industries in Fayette county employ more than 100,000 persons. Comparatively few women were engaged, considering the total number of employees. In 1918 the male employees numbered 38,000 and the females 4,734.

HOUSEKEEPING HINTS.

When hot applications are necessary, dip a cloth in hot water, wring out and lay it between folds of paper placed on top of the kitchen stove or in the oven.

When beating egg whites add a pinch of salt, which makes them beat more quickly and stand up better, as the salt toughens the albumen.

Lemons will keep a long time if kept in a dish of cold water, changing the water from time to time.

Goose fat well fried out makes fine shortening for cakes, biscuits and pastry.

Curtains which hold package, foods, may be procured from the grocer, who is glad to give them away. Use these for storing garments. A strip of gummed paper put over the openings and cracks makes them mothproof.

To prevent the cream pitcher from dripping put a little butter under the edge of the spout.

An old organ or piano stool makes a fine kitchen stool as it may be raised or lowered at will and is out of the way when pushed under the table.

Face curtains may be patched with a piece of net as near like the curtain as is possible to get. Dip the net in starch, cover the place to be mended and place over it a cloth. Iron until dry. The torn place will be unnoticed if the edges are carefully trimmed.

To sweeten any dish which has been saturated with any odor turn it upside down on the earth or sod.

To keep curtains from being blown about by the wind put a brass weight or two in the corner of each hem.

Make soap from discarded fats: Take five and one-half pounds of fat and one pound of lye. Dissolve the lye in cold water in a stone jar. Melt the fat and add it to the lye solution when it is cold. Stir constantly, add ammonia or borax dissolved in the water used in the lye: six and one-half cups of water, two tablespoonfuls of borax dissolved in half a cupful of hot water and half a cupful of ammonia. Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Tells Safe, Simple Way to Treat and Relieve at Home.

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1-ounce of Permin (Double strength). Take this home and add to it one-fourth pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is often said that nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment—Adv.

DO YOU REALIZE YOU MAY BE ONE

Nine Out of Ten Said to Be Slowly Poisoning Ourselves.

"Few realize what an enormous number of people among those who live in such localities as this suffer from auto-intoxication," said the Tangle Man. "This condition is nothing more or less than the self-poisoning of vital organs and is the foundation of most ailments and diseases." "When the organs become nervous and debilitated they are unable to throw off the accumulations of waste matters because they are weak. The purgative germs within and the sufferer finally succumbs to poisons generated within his own system. Jaundice, hard cold, constipation, indigestion, biliousness, headaches, backache, diarrhoea, nervousness, dizziness and depression of the stomach and bowels are common symptoms of this trouble."

"Folk, which is so wide in its field of usefulness, so certain are the results, so quick and so thorough are the beneficial effects that the preparation seems more like a miracle than like a medicine," is said here by Beighley's Pharmacy, Connelville Drug Store, Fred H. Harmening—Adv.

Itching, Irritating Skin

Worst Forms of Skin Trouble Quickly Relieved by Inexpensive Treatment.

If you suffer with any skin trouble and the itching seems unbearable, do not think you have to use some greasy, unpleasant ointment to get relief. Try Hokara, a pure and pleasant antiseptic cream—guaranteed to contain no grease, and has cleansing ingredients which vanish into the marred skin to do their healing and does not stay on the skin only to look bad and soil linen.

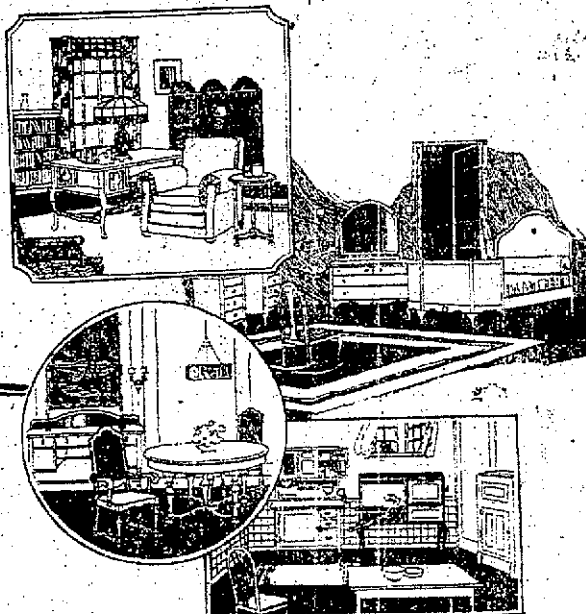

Hokara's power to relieve quickly any irritation of the skin and make it soft, white and beautiful might be called miraculous. Minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, acne, barber's itch, etc., seem to disappear magically, and Hokara with its potent healing qualities is a successful treatment in ending chronic skin diseases like salt rheum or eczema. It is possible for anyone to try Hokara and be convinced of its merit—simply because A. A. Clarke, druggist, is selling a liberal sized jar for only 25 cents. It is sold on a guarantee of satisfaction or money back—Adv.

FINAL EFFORT ON TO RAISE BASEBALL FUND

One more effort will be made to raise sufficient funds to erect stands for the fans who will witness the games at Fayette Field this season. The Connellsville Baseball club has nearly $500 in the treasury to date, but this amount is far from sufficient to give the fans the comfort they will require in the way of seats. It is hoped that the business men will respond to this last appeal. That response to this last appeal to this city, one only needs to read the papers of other cities. In the other cities the business men realize the worth of a good strong team as an attraction and they are giving it the necessary financial support.

Only 22 days remain for the opening game at Fayette Field between the Connellsville Independents and the Turtle Creek Athletics, the latter team being one of the strongest available for that date. This game will be a strong test for the locals. The fans will then have a line on the Independents. One week later Johnny Yoodie's Fairbank team comes to do battle with the locals.

The first big game to be played in this vicinity will be that between the Trotter and Dverson teams. They open the season May 1, at Trotter. The Trotter team took full advantage of the fine weather that prevailed yesterday and got in some much needed practice.

When the line-up of the Connellsville Independents is announced, the fans of this city will be agreeably surprised. Some of the fastest ball tossers of this section of the state will be in Connellsville uniforms.

Newt Wilson is more than anxious for the day to roll around so that his aggregation of tossers will have an opportunity to play the local Independents. Andy George will umpire the game. What are your favorite batters Andy?

BOXING.

Billy Carter, the local light weight boxer received an offer to box at Altoona on a date to be decided on either May 10 or 14. Carter's opponent will be Charles Knox of Altoona, a rugged fighter of the buff bang order. The local champion has been idle for some time past. In fact his last important fight was with Eddie Dorsey at Cumberland last winter. Carter will start training tonight for the bout and would like to hear from Ed Heath, his regular trainer, and the following boys: Billy McMarshall, Clyde Warwick and Coddington. Carter wants these boys to get in touch with his manager at once.

Tonight's bouts—Bobby Michaels vs Bobby Robideau, 12 rounds; Chicopee Falls Mass. vs Joe Welling vs Johnny Dundee 12 rounds, Columbus, O. George Ward vs Joe Welsh.

Practically no one has been lost in getting the boys in shape for the interclass trials to decide which ones will be selected to represent C. H. S. at the big meeting in Pittsburgh on May 29.

SOISSON THEATRE.

A fast moving pleasing big time vaudeville program was presented at the Soisson theatre yesterday and will be repeated today in addition to the wonderful moving picture 'U. 25'. Five great vaudeville acts were shown and each one ranked with the best that has ever been seen in Connellsville. It was a rare program and one that was thoroughly enjoyed by a capacity audience. Hawthorne's Minstrels is a pretentious offering introducing a regular minstrel first part. There are funny comedians, excellent vocalists and good dancers in addition to beautiful scenery. Hawthorne's Minstrels was a good act full of life and originality.

Willy Zimmerman in impersonations of the members of the Peace Conference is an artist of renown. He is a finished actor and should be specially commended for his brilliant mimicry. His old soldier character was an artistic gem. Benton and Shaw had their audience laughing as did Walcome, the juggler and Lane and Shaw.

What I found out about overalls

"I USED to think that it didn't matter much what sort of overalls I bought. They all seemed the same to me.

"Sometimes they wore well and sometimes they didn't. Likely as not they would pull and bind. I thought that it was all luck—that you couldn't help some overalls being good and others bad.

"Then one day I got a pair that was big and roomy and comfortable. I noticed that they looked right, too. They fitted easy all the time I had them and they wore like iron. Next time I bought a pair like them—and they were just as good.

"The name of those overalls is Blue Buckles. I always buy them now, because I know they'll give me good service."

"I've tried a lot of overalls, but of all I've worn, give me Blue Buckles every time. They always give long wear."

LINKING OF LARGE POWER COMPANIES, LATEST PROJECT

Object Would Be to Provide Sufficient Current in Emergencies.

ONE CONCERN MAY BE OUT

Under Plan Others in Connected Service Would Supply Current to Consumers During the Period of Trouble and Thus Prevent Suspension.

Large central station electric companies in Western Pennsylvania, northern West Virginia and Ohio will soon be linked together so that there may be interchange of power in case of necessity, according to the statement of A. M. Lynn, president of the West Penn system, in a paper read to members of the Pennsylvania Electrical association in Pittsburgh on Wednesday. Thus when one company has trouble, the others in the chain will come to its rescue, carrying part of a load and relieving of electric service in this section of the country will be enhanced.

Mr. Lynn stated that Akron, Canton, Massillon, East Liverpool and Steubenville, Ohio, and Wheeling, W. Va., are connected through West Penn lines with those of the Duquesne Light company of Pittsburgh. Within three years, Mr. Lynn predicted the Republic Railway & Light company of Youngstown and New Castle, the Penn Public Service company of Johnstown and the Monongahela Valley Traction company will join "I understand," he said, "that the Penn Central Light & Power company lines cross those of the Penn Public Service company, so it appears that within a reasonable time light and power interests from central Pennsylvania to central and northern Ohio and central West Virginia will be connected. Great advantages will thus accrue to these utilities and to the public."

An interesting possibility from this interconnection was mentioned by Mr. Lynn, who told of receiving a long distance call from an officer of a large electric company of central Ohio asking if the West Penn could spare him 5,000 kilowatts of capacity. The West Penn not being in position to supply that quantity, the Ohio man went to the Duquesne Light company, the idea being that if that company had the power to spare it would turn 5,000 kilowatts over to the West Penn, the West Penn would in turn deliver 5,000 kilowatts to the American Gas & Electric company at the Windor station and the American Gas & Electric which covers eastern Ohio would supply the same capacity to the company making the request.

Laundry of the Millionaire.
Order is pleasant. If I were a millionaire—which I thank heaven I am not, nor scarcely a millionth part of one—I should take pleasure in the silent orderliness that shadowed my home. Those invisible hands that patted out the pillows and shined the shoes and picked up everything, even the Sunday newspapers—those I should enjoy. I should enjoy especially the guardian angel who hid from me the casualties of the laundry and put the surviving laundry away. In heaven there is no laundry, or mending of laundry. For the millionaire the laundry is sent and the laundry is sorted away, blessed be the name of the millionaire. I envy him little else—except perhaps, his linen sheets.—New Republic

THE PARAMOUNT.

THE STRANGE BOARDER.
Starring the smiling and likable William Rogers, is an interesting attraction today and tomorrow. Mr. Rogers is provided with one of the best roles of his screen career. The production is in five acts and has won favor wherever exhibited. Mr. Rogers is supported by a splendid cast.

The second chapter of Vitaphone's great serial, "The Silent Avenger," starring William Duncan, is also being shown.

Monday and Tuesday Tom Moore, Goldwyn's favorite star, will be featured in "Dubs," a story of the aftermath of the great war of the pillage of devastated Europe, and one of the thousand treasures of which it was robbed by those hawks who are to be found following the path of destruction. Mr. Moore is supported by Naomi Childers, Christine Mayo and other well known screen stars.

THE SOISSON.

"PARLOR, BEDROOM AND BATH"

One of the laughing hits of the season, will be presented Monday night.

The play is in three acts and is the work of C. W. Bell and Mark Swan. It contains what Mr. Woods believes to be one of the most novel plots ever embodied in a comedy. The story deals with the escapades of an eminently respectable young bachelorette who is compelled to assume the guise of a Don Juan to satisfy the sentimental cravings of his adoring bride. Assuming the strange role that in his time he finds himself in a desperate plight in a wayside inn, with more beautiful ladies on his hands than he can handle, an individual ever dreamed of. That is as far as Mr. Woods will disclose the plot. But developments that ensue made New York and Chicago laugh uproariously for more than a year.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommend Daily Use of Vinol to Overcome Flatulence Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called acid indigestion. Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive acids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Vinol. Magnesia and make a teaspoonful in a quart glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and flat right out of the body, soothe the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Saturated Vinol (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Adv.

Elderly People Have A Daily Health Problem

Stomach muscles and digestive organs slow to act as age advances

MOST people find the years slipping by without realizing it, until suddenly confronted with the fact that they can no longer digest everything they would like to eat. It then becomes their daily task to avoid what they know to be chronic constipation.

When exercise and light diet fail it will be necessary to resort to artificial means. Strong physics and cathartics, however, are not advisable for elderly people. They act too powerfully and a feeling of weakness results.

What is needed is a laxative containing effective but mild properties. This is best found in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin which is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, acts gently and without gripping, and used a few days will train the digestive organs to do their work naturally again without other aid.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has been on the market since 1892 and was the private formula of Dr. W. B. Caldwell, who is himself past 80 years of age and still active in his profession. It can be bought at any drug store and one bottle is enough to last even a large family many months. It is a trustworthy preparation.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest-selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 511 Washington St., Monicello, Illinois.

INCREASED PRICE OF COAL WILL MEAN LARGER BILLS FOR POWER

That all or nearly all the big central station electric companies will have to seek increased rates because of the continued increases in wages, salaries, materials and the recent enormous advance in the cost of coal, following the 27 per cent award to the bituminous miners, was the prediction of A. M. Lynn, president of the West Penn system, in a paper read at the noonday luncheon of members of the Pennsylvania Electric association at Pittsburgh, Wednesday.

Mr. Lynn stated that his company will pay probably $3.25 a ton at the mine for run of mine coal and he forecasted a raise in freight rates of as much as 50 per cent, which would make the cost of transporting coal to the power house, 50 cents a ton, in place of 60 cents as at present. This will bring the price to $4.75 a ton at the power house, instead of $2.25, the prevailing rate during the war, an increase in excess of 100 per cent.

Whether the domestic consumer must stand a share of the contemplated increase along with the larger consumer is a question the central station companies must decide, Mr. Lynn declared.

The meeting was attended by 100 electrical men from Western Pennsylvania.

DR. NORRIS RESIGNS

Head of Somerset Home Takes Position in Another State.

SOMERSET, April 22—Dr. John F. Norris, superintendent of the Somerset County Home and Hospital, has tendered his resignation from that position and will accept a similar position in another state. Dr. Norris figured in the recent investigation of the alleged mistreatment of patients at the institution, on charges made by Dr. Wilson, formerly superintendent of the hospital.

The retiring superintendent testified before the investigating committee composed of State Charities officials, whose findings have been kept a secret for the present.

Obliging. "I told Jack I would like to see him try to kiss me."

"What did he do?" "Well, Jack always tries to do what I like."

Too Dangerous. "An aviator cannot brag of his family."

"Why not?" "Because in his case there is little cause for boasting of descent."

DROPS OF MAGIC! LIFT OUT CORNS

Sore, touchy corns stop hurting, then lift right out with fingers

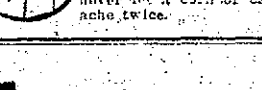

For a few cents you can get a small bottle of the magic drug freemove recently discovered by a Cincinnati man.

Just ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freemove. Apply a few drops upon a tender, aching corn or callus and instantly all soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you lift it off with the fingers.

Just think! Not one bit of pain before applying freemove or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

Hard corns, soft corns, or corns between the toes, also hardened calluses on bottom of feet, shrivel up and fall off without hurting a hair. It is almost magical.

Ladies! Keep a tiny bottle of the freemove and never for a corn or callus ache twice.

CHURCH MEMBERSHIP ACCEPTS CHALLENGE TO GREAT REVIVAL

Sixteen Million Dollar Fund
Will be Raised, Say United Presbyterian Leaders After
Personal Tours of America

Leaders in the United Presbyterian church, returning from hurried speaking tours to all parts of America, report at national headquarters at the New World Movement in Pittsburgh, Pa., that there is little doubt that the denomination will achieve an overwhelming success in its campaign from April 25 to May 2 for $16,715,203 to widen the field of church work at home and abroad.

DR. GEORGE E. RAITT

During March and April more than a dozen of the most widely known men in the church visited every part of the country where United Presbyterianism is represented. Enthusiasm for the campaign, which is one of the 30 denominational drives comprised in the Interchurch World Movement united campaign, is steadily increasing say all the leaders.

Rev. George E. Raitt, D. D., general secretary of the New World Movement, crossed the country, speaking at Omaha and Pawnee, Nebraska; Love, Greeley, Denver and Pueblo, Colorado, and in Los Angeles and Long Beach, California.

"In one congregation I found that 25 men had pledged themselves to give $1,000 each to the movement," said Dr. Raitt. "I found the congregations everywhere accepting their allotments and determined to raise their share of the fund. It is the greatest forward movement in the history of our church."

Rev. J. Knox Montgomery, D. D., president of Muskingum College, brought a similar report after a three weeks' trip through Washington, Oregon and Idaho. "Generally speaking, I found the situation quite beyond what I had expected," he said.

Rev. T. D. Edgar, D. D., of Pittsburgh, Pa., just home from an 8,000 mile trip through the west, said particular strength was being shown by congregations in Texas and California. "Success will be made certain by an active and thorough canvass at the height," he declared.

A remarkable feature of the movement is the announcement from the foreign mission fields that the synods of the Punjab in India and of the Nile in Egypt also will put on New World Movement campaigns. Leaders in these synods are calling for a delegation of workers from the home church to assist them in their campaign which will be conducted about the middle of September.

RURAL CONGREGATION LEADS AMERICA IN RATIO OF FIFTEERS

Campaigns by dozens of Protestant denominations throughout America to revitalize the Biblical practice of tithing has brought into national prominence a little church in Burgettstown, Pa. It is probable, say churchmen, that no other congregation in America has been able to show such a percentage of tithing stewards, pledged to give one-tenth of their income to Christian service.

The church is the First United Presbyterian congregation which has enrolled 130 tithing out of a total membership of 178. This enrollment is of final pledge cards of the 130 tithers having been sent to headquarters of the New World Movement of the denomination at Pittsburgh, Pa. An official report is that this proportion of 73 per cent of the membership enrolled as tithers has been increased to 80 per cent.

Remarkable enrollments are resulting from the New World Movement campaign for enrollment of tithers and official reports already show an enrollment of 12,772 members of the United Presbyterian church.

"The outlook for enrollment of 50,000 tithers in the church is exceedingly hopeful," says Rev. J. H. W. D. D., secretary of the department of stewardship of the movement. "Many congregations have reported some have submitted only partial reports and if the present rate of enlistment carries through the entire church we will have more than 50,000 enrolled."

The KITCHEN CABINET

Why is it that women so seldom think of house management as a business? A business which needs training and adaptation. Why should we expect all women to be successful housekeepers? We would think it absurd to limit a man to any one business or profession regardless of talent or equipment; so let us be as charitable with the women.

WHAT SHALL WE HAVE FOR DINNER?

Where fresh mackerel is not to be obtained, those who are fond of fish will like baked mackerel occasionally, which is a favorite breakfast dish in many households.

Soak until freshened a good thick meaty fish, getting it in water skin side up. When sufficiently freshened place in a dripping pan with a few tablespoons of boiling water.

Cook for 10 minutes; then add hot cream poured over the fish and bake for ten or fifteen minutes longer. Serve with the sauce poured over the fish. Milk may be used with butter, but nothing tastes quite so good as cream.

Dinner Salad.—Use a few sections of grapefruit with all membranes removed and broken in small bits, arranged on lettuce and sprinkled with finely shredded green pepper. Serve with an oil dressing, using corn oil. Beat the yolk of an egg, add salt, sugar, mustard and lemon juice; when well mixed add a little corn oil, beating well. Continue heating until thick and creamy. Use about three-fourths of a cupful of oil to one egg yolk and a tablespoonful or two of lemon juice. This dressing will keep indefinitely if kept cold.

Fried Onions and Apples.—Slice two onions very thin and cook in a tablespoonful of hot fat until yellow; then add half a dozen sliced, tart apples, cook until soft, adding a bit of water and fat if needed. Just before serving add a tablespoonful of sugar. Serve with roast pork, pork sausages or pork steak or chops. If one does not like the onions or desires variety core the apples, without peeling, slice in half-inch slices and fry carefully not to break them. Serve with chops, making an overlapping ring of the apples around the chops.

Add one tablespoonful of cornstarch to each cupful of flour in making cake. It improves the grain greatly.

RUZZLED.
"Bug Postman, I wish these fool bugs would leave their house numbers. How do I know where this belongs?"
Unenforceable.
"A law appeared. Men pulled to look with satisfaction deep.
It went into another book.
And there it went to sleep."

Both in Fact.
First Relative—The idea of old Uncle Peter devising all his money for the erection of a manseum over his remains. It's just a willful waste.
Second Relative—Huh! I call it wasteful will.

A Look Ahead.
"Can you really tell anything about the future?"
"Oh, yes," said the fortune-teller. "I know, for instance, that my lordship ain't going to get his rear next month."

Bait.
"Isn't that wrap a little large for you?" asked the husband.
"Yes," said the wife. "The cook is preparing to leave and I'm getting clothes near enough to her size to keep her interested in upstaging."

Does 3¢ = Americanism?

Did you know that 3c is MORE than the churches average from each member per day?

WE AMERICANS may be thoughtless. Sometimes we may appear selfish. But when a great need arises, no one can say that we have ever shirked.

Ask any son of France. Ask any soldier of Great Britain. Or ask any Armenian mother or a girl with a red cross on her sleeve or one with a tambourine in her hand.

And now the churches come to us for help—our churches. Not begging. Not asking alms. But with heads lifted high facing a task so worthy that we, as loyal Americans, ought to feel it a privilege to help.

Here is the Plain, Unvarnished Truth

We don't need to be told that the church is the heart of the Nation. We admit its influence for lasting good in our children. We see its stabilizing influence on our communities. We know a little of its great hospitals, its homes for children, its schools and colleges here and abroad.

But most of us do not realize how pitifully inadequate the support of the churches is when compared to the urgent needs.

Less than 3¢ a day!

In spite of the great tasks which we expect our churches to carry out, those of us who give to the church—and the number is all too few—are now giving an average of less than 3¢ a day for all church purposes.

Less than 3¢ a day.

Shall our churches go on? It is for you to say.

Without your help the work of your church must be just that much less.

Give—and give from your heart as well as from your pocketbook.

THE STRANGE CASE OF CAVENDISH

RANDALL PARRISH

AUTHOR OF "THE DEVIL'S OWN" "MY LADY OF THE NORTH" ETC.

COPYRIGHT BY RANDALL PARRISH

Cavendish grasped the penholder in his fingers, and signed. It was the act of a man dazed, half stupefied, unable to control his actions. In a way it was a confession of guilt, an acknowledgment of his fear of exposure, yet he felt utterly incapable of resistance. Enright unlocked the door, and projected his head outside, comprehending clearly that the proper time to strike was while the iron was hot.

Calling Miss Realy, one of his stenographers, he made her an official witness to the document and the signature of John Cavendish.

Not until ten minutes later when he was on the street did it occur to John Cavendish that the carbon copy of the will, together with the rough notes in his cousin's handwriting, still remained in Enright's possession. Valois tried to force himself to return and demand them; but his nerve failed, and he shuffled away hopelessly in the hurrying crowd.

As Francois Valois trudged along the night streets toward his rooming house he came face to face with a trim, young woman in a smart blue serge. "Oh, hello!" she cried pleasantly, bringing up short. Then seeing the puzzled look upon the man's face, she said: "Don't you remember me? I'm Miss Donovan of the Star. I came up to the apartments the morning of the Cavendish murder with one of the boys."

Valois smiled warmly; men usually did for Miss Donovan. "I remember," he said, "dolorously."

The girl sensed some underlying sorrow in his voice and with professional skill learned the cause within a minute. Then, because she believed that there might be more to be told, and because she was big-hearted and interested in every one's troubles, she urged him to accompany her to a nearby restaurant and pour out his heart while she supped. Lonesome and disheartened, Valois accepted gladly and within half an hour they were seated at a tiny table in an Italian cafe.

"About your discharge?" she queried after a time.

"I was not even asked to accompany Mr. Frederick's body," he burst out. "Even though I had been with him a year. So I stayed in the apartment to straighten things, expecting to be retained in John Cavendish's service. I even did the work in his apartments, but when he returned and saw me there he seemed to lose his temper, wanted to know why I was hanging around, and ordered me out of the place. Flung money at me, he did, told me to get out, that he never wanted to see me again. When then I have tried for three weeks to find work, but it has been useless."

While she gave him a word of sympathy, Miss Donovan was busily thinking. She remembered Willis' remark to the apartments, "Are you sure of the dead man's identity? His face is badly mutilated, you know," and her alert mind sensed a possibility of a newspaper story back of young Cavendish's unwarranted and strange act.

"Mr. Valois," she said kindly, "would you mind if I asked you a question or two more?"

"No, the man returned," she said. "What was your master?"

Valois answered almost with reverence.

"A nice, quiet gentleman," he said. "He liked outdoors and outdoors. Best of all, he liked to read. Not much, like the boys, but he read with narrowing eyes. No, ma'am, God be praised! There's a young fool for you, mistaking the women and his drink."

"I understand that he was dependent upon Frederick Cavendish."

"He was, miss," Valois said, hesitantly, "for every cent."

"Did they ever quarrel?"

"I never heard them. But I do know there was no love lost between them, and I know that young John was always broke."

"Girls cost lots on Broadway," Miss Donovan suggested, "and they keep men up late, too."

Valois laughed lightly. "John only came home to sleep occasionally," he said, "and as for the women—one of them called on him the day after Mr. Frederick was killed. One of those tall blondes with a reddish tinge in her hair. He likes that kind."

Miss Donovan started perceptibly. This was interesting; a woman in John Cavendish's apartment the day after his cousin's murder! And who was she? There were a million carrot-blondes in Manhattan. Still, the woman must have had some distinguishing mark; her hat, perhaps, or her jewels.

"Did the women wear any diamonds?" she asked.

"Two diamonds," Valois returned, "a ruby, though. A ruby set in a big platinum ring. I saw her hand upon the knob."

Miss Donovan's blood ran fast. She knew that woman. It was Celeste La Rue. From what Miss Donovan knew of Miss La Rue, she did not ordinarily seek men; therefore, the most have been a grave reason for her presence in John Cavendish's apartment.

learned of Frederick's death. A thousand speculations entered Miss Donovan's mind.

"How long was she in the apartment?" she demanded sharply.

"Fifteen or twenty minutes, miss—until after the ballroom came back."

"Have you told any one else what you have told me?"

"Only Josette. She's my fiancée. Miss La Rue is her last name. She questioned me about losing my job, and her questions brought things into my mind that I might never have thought of otherwise. And at last I came to believe that it wasn't Mr. Frederick who was dead at all."

Miss Donovan's eyes dilated with eagerness and amazement.

"Not Frederick Cavendish! Mr. Valois, tell me—why?"

The other's voice fell to a whisper.

"Frederick Cavendish, miss," he said, "had a scar on his chest—"

"From football," he once told me—and the man we laid out, well, his body was a bit burned, but had no scar on his chest."

Miss Donovan sprang suddenly to her feet.

"Mr. Valois," she said breathlessly, "you come and tell that story to my city editor, and he'll see that you get a job—and a real one. You and I have started something, Mr. Valois."

And tossing money to cover the bill on the table, she took Valois' arm, and with him in tow hurried through the restaurant to the city streets on one of which was the Star office, where Farriss, the city editor, daily damned the doings of the world.

Farriss, for once, was enthusiastic.

"A great lead!" By the Lord, it is! Now to prove it, Stella—Farriss always resorted to first names—"you drop everything else and go to this, learn what you can, spend money if you have to. I'll drag Willis off police, and you work with him. I'll give you a week—when you've got something, come back!"

CHAPTER III

On the Track of a Crime.

In the city room of the Star, Farriss, the city editor, sat back in his swivel chair, smoking a large pipe preparatory to going home. His thoughts were suddenly interrupted by a cluster of footsteps, and, glancing his feet to the floor, he turned to confront Willis and Miss Donovan.

Miss Donovan smiled at him. "Great luck! We've got something, and we due all work to get it."

"Well, for Pete's sake, shoot!" demanded Farriss. "Cavendish, I suppose."

The two nodded. Their eyes were alight with enthusiasm.

"Get the first place," said the girl, with grave emphasis. "Frederick Cavendish did not die intestate as supposed. He left a will."

Farriss blinked. "That's interesting. There was no evidence of that before."

"I got that from the servants of the College club," Willis interposed.

"The will was drawn the night before the murder. And the man that drew it was Patrick Enright, of Enright and Dougherty."

Cavendish took away a copy of it in his pocket. And, Mr. Farriss, I got something else, too—Enright and young John Cavendish are in communication further. I saw him leaving Enright's office last night. Following my hunch, I cultivated Miss Healy, Enright's stenographer, and learned that the two had an altercation, and that it was evidently over some document."

Stella Donovan began speaking now.

"Celeste La Rue, the blonde of the City, has got some kind of hold on John Cavendish. It isn't love, either; it's something stronger. He jumps when she holds the hoop."

"La Rue's mixed up in this deeply, too," Willis cut in. "While she was playing with young Cavendish and seeing him almost daily, the lovely Celeste was also in communication with—guess who?"

"Enright?" Farriss ventured.

"Exactly—Enright," he concluded, lighting his half-smoked cigarette.

"Well," the city editor tapped his desk; "you two have done pretty well, so far. You've got considerable dope. Now, what do you make of it?"

"It may be a dream," Willis said, smiling, "but here is the way I stack it up. The night after he hurried into John, Frederick Cavendish called in Enright and made a will, presumably cutting John off with practically nothing."

"Immediately after Frederick's departure, Enright calls Carlton's cafe and talks to John Cavendish, who had been dining there with Celeste La Rue. It is reasonable to suppose that he told him of the will. Less than five hours afterward Frederick Cavendish is found dead in his apartment. Again it is reasonable to suppose that he was croaked by John Cavendish, who wanted to destroy the will so that he could claim the estate."

"The dead man is buried, and John starts spending money like water. One month later he receives a letter asking him to call at Enright's office."

"What happened there is probably this. Young Cavendish was informed of the existence of the will, and it was offered to him at a price which he refused to pay."

"The will was then destroyed, and John Cavendish was left with nothing."

accuse, or he may be guilty, but one thing is certain—he's being badgered to death by two people, from what little we know. One of them is the 'fat' woman; the other is Enright."

Farriss sat reflecting deeply, chewing the stem of his dead pipe.

"There's one thing that conflicts with your hypothesis, Valois' statement that he was almost positive that the dead man was not Cavendish."

"I now believe Valois is mistaken, in view of developments," said Willis, with finality.

"So does Stella—Miss Donovan. I mean," he said, "remember the body was charred across the face and chest—and Valois was excited."

Farriss was silent a moment.

"Stick to it a while longer," he rapped out; "and get La Rue and Cavendish together at their meeting place, if you can discover it."

"We can," interjected Willis. "It's Stelway's cafe, the place where the police picked up Frisco, Danny and

"Then hold to it," Farriss rejoined. "Stick around there until you get something deeper. As for me—I'm going home. It's two o'clock."

It was the second night after Farriss had given them his instructions that Miss Donovan and Willis, sitting in the last darkened booth in Stelway's cafe, were rewarded for their vigil. As they sat, toying with their food, their eyes commanded the entire room. They saw a woman swing into the cafe entrance, and enter the booth directly ahead of them.

"La Rue!" whispered Willis to Miss Donovan.

SURVEY SHOWS GREAT NEED FOREIGN FI

Seven Hundred Fifty Millions Have Not Heard the Gospel

AFRICA A FERTILE FIELD

The Interchurch World Movement survey shows that the need of the foreign mission task is an enormous one. We have passed that period in the history of missions when we must open doors and order to enter the mission fields. The doors are wide open and the cry is coming up from every land, "Come over and help us."

From practically every mission field come detailed statements showing inadequate equipment, insufficient working force, native and foreign, and resources for support of current work woefully inadequate. Thirty-two per cent of the budget is to be devoted entirely to missionary work abroad. This sum, though far surpassing anything that has ever been proposed in the past, will be inadequate to evangelize the 750,000,000 or more people who have never heard of Christ. It is true that the world can never be evangelized by money. It is likewise true that the world can never be evangelized without money. It has been estimated that it costs at least $24 to evangelize or bring one new member into the church in America, while in China it costs but a little more than $4. So, we have grown cheap in some lands. Yet we say "God is no respecter of persons."

Dr. J. Ross Stevenson has said: "The goal of history is the redemption of the world." The consummation of all missionary endeavor will be when the knowledge of Jesus Christ has become universal. Hence the aim of missions is to make Jesus Christ known to every creature so that he may have an intelligent opportunity to accept Him as his Savior.

If there are any questions as to the responsibility of the Christian church to send the Gospel message to all the world or any doubt as to the ability of the Christian church to do this, the surveys of the Interchurch Movement answer both questions, and back of the Interchurch revelations are the eternal revelations of God and His commission to His church, "Go ye—Teach all nations. And lo I am with you always."

We cannot discriminate between those who should and should not have the knowledge of Christ for the need of it is universal. The great commission should bear directly upon the life purpose of every follower of our Lord. The command of Christ, "Go and make disciples of all nations," if it means anything to us today, is the duty of all who have named the name of Christ. If you cannot go in person, you can send your dollar which is representative of your brain and brawn in helping to carry out the great commission.

Thirty denominations through their mission boards are cooperating in a great missionary program to reach light in that dark continent of Africa. Africa, the great unexplored, Africa, the ignorant with more than 350 languages and dialects, and yet without an intelligent language, Africa with 150,000,000 people crushed by Muslim, median and cursed by superstition. The great world war brought over 1,000,000 Africans into touch with the western world. Each one who returns is a messenger either of weal or of woe to his people. China needs the transforming power of the gospel of Christ. China has a population of over 400,000,000—the largest of any single country in the world, fully one quarter of that of the whole world. China can grow everything producible in the United States and many other things besides. It is claimed that China can feed and clothe herself if given modern methods and machinery. China has mineral resources that rival those of the United States. Her coal seams are inexhaustible. Her iron ore deposits amount to over 750,000,000 tons. But China is chaotic. She has not developed any great leaders. Illiterate, superstition and tradition hold her fast in bondage to the past. There are only 5,000 effective missionaries at work in China, about one to every 65,000 souls. Can Christianity win in China under these almost impossible handicaps? China presents practically all types of missionary work.

India presents another missionary field of smaller dimensions, but difficult problems. About one-fifth of the human race, or 350,000,000 of people dwell in this land. 163 persons to the square mile as compared with 35 in this country. India is religious but not Christian. Less than six per cent of the people are able to read and write. For ages past the outstanding social characteristic of India has been the system of "caste." The ancient system numbered four castes, but they have branched out so numerous that one conservative authority asserts that there are nearly 2,000 of them, and some refer to over 1,800 divisions of the Brahman caste alone. Christian medical missions have wrought marvels in the saving of countless lives. In teaching the value of human life, in demonstrating clean, sane and effective methods of treatment, in stimulating to better work and in expressing powerfully the Christian spirit of brotherly kindness. It is said that Europe needs bread. She likewise needs the "Bread of Life." Europe has been called "the flaming crucible of civilization." Europe lies in the chaos and aftermath of war. The flower of her manhood has been buried. The present hour offers an unprecedented opportunity to render a most unselfish and sacrificial service. Can we meet the tremendous demands? We can at least try, and we will.

Style is harder to get than all-wool

THERE would be no distinction for Society Brand Clothes if their only virtue was all-wool. Any maker could give you this if he wished. But style is a matter of creative designing and careful, costly workmanship.

SOCIETY BRAND clothes for young men and men who stay young set the fashion in clothing styles.

HIRSH, WICKWIRE clothes for more conservative dressers, like Society Brand are correct as to style and strictly all-wool as to material, but they are designed primarily for men of quieter tastes.

MICHAELS-STERN clothes are pre-eminently "Value First" in every sense, offering most excellent men's wear at conservative prices.

Many new patterns for spring and summer, —new touches of smartness in cut, new features that give distinction to your appearance are shown in all these models which are the three greatest brands of men's clothing sold any where.
